Номоково, Виртимина 19ги, 1870.

As mentioned recently, the Hongkong Go verement bave at last determined to supply he of the greatest wants of the Colony, as efficient Detective ervice. The heorgaity of ratablishing this branch of the Police Force has been so often noticed in these columns, that it is needless to repeat the well known arguments with regard to it The wonder is that so obvious a want remained so John unsupplied ; especially as the defects of the Police Service were the subject of constant animadversion both officially and p the newspapers. The secret of Sir Bichand MacDonnell's aversion to setting on foot a Detective Service seems most probably to have laid in the fact that he reposed too much confidence in the arrangements for discovering crime by means of the native districk watchmene the licensees of the gambling houses, and, as has come to light in connection with some cases of importance. the informers connected with Mr. D. R CALD-WELL. The arrangements probably appeared to him as satisfactory as any that could be made, and ho doubt for a time they appeared to work in a manner such as would justify the plain truth come out that we were almost powerless in regard to all matters as to go verning the Chinese; and that it was impossible for the police to discover the perpe trators of the most atrocious crimes, such with regard to them; the bur, the house and for example, as the Holworthy and Sowkowan murders. Under such circumstances. the conclusion to be arrived at was obvious. It became clear to outside people, though the fact was persistently denied by the anthorites, that we were relying upon broken show how this happened. We were, and are to the present day, dependent entirely upon the Chinese. The district watchmen, though accountable to the REGISTRAR-GENERAL, are completely free from actual control of Eurovisited only by two inspectors a specul stipulation being made in their agreement to that effect-cun take their choice as to whether they will give evidence as to the whereabouts of criminals or not; the runners | Mr. Francis in reply, dived deep into the laws belonging to Mr. D. R. CALDWELL, avowedly more in Chinese than in foreign interests, are mother country, and also into the Ordinanes likely give information with regard to eriminals only when it suits the natives to do so. Thus, the end of attempts in three distinet directions at obtaining the required knowledge as to what is going on in the Colony is precisely the same: We have to XXII section of the Ordinance, had not existed rely upon the Chinese. This was admitted and did not exist; the whole question sturned in so many words by Mr. CREACH, Acting Superintendent of Police, in his last report, who, however, argued very illogically that, notwithstanding this fact, a detective service was not desirable. It was shown incident the Hougkong Hotel was granted to Mr. ally in the Registrar-General's Report, where it was stated that the district watch: men excused themselves for not bringing forward more cases on the plos that crime was diminishing, when everything showed only too distinctly that it was on the increase. Finally, with respect to Mr. D. R. CALD. well's runners, no proof is wanted, as these animadierted upon the peculiar character, of men are not in the service of the Government. and as above noticed, are employed for the benefit of the Chinese, and are, therefore, likely to direct their attention only to the detection of such crimes as the native community desire to bring to the surface.

Thus, by degrees, a scheme apparently of a shrewd nature was found to be as defective in principle as one fact after another had proved it to be in practice, and in various direction's prominent attention was directed to the urgent necessity of establishing a Detective Service. That such a step met with any opposition at all—that it was not, must be a subject of wonder on the part of eistance upon which the Government of Hongkong has latterly been relying. It has taken some time to make this clear; but it variety of circumstances combined with certain very striking admissions in the officia-Reports themselves, have at least made it apparent that a great deal more confidence than is desirable or safe, line been reposed, for discovery of crime, in arrangements all ull timately dependent upon the Chinese.

This, or something like it, is no doubt the explanation of the otherwise unaccountable apathy of the Executive with regard to the untter; and it is it subject of sincers congratulation that His Excellency the Linux. Governon does not appear willing to allow the accumulation of facts, which shows that the Police Force is working in the dark, to be longer ignored. It is sincerely to be lioped that the steps, which we are informed are being taken, will prove successful. It is not to be orpected that a Detective Service

The question as to whether if so could be made to Transfer the license, did not appear to have entered into their consideration. It was admitted however that defendant was responsible that good order should be maintained, sobriety observed, and that there should any shure in thom; be bad no beneficiary occumition there was however a sort of it doubt conveyed whether defendant could order a

Mr. Hayllar contended that the mischief contemplated in the upon the light interpretation in law being the terms of the Ordinance had been given by defendant the intention of the Ordinance was to prohibit the transfer of licenses being Holmes by the Licewing Justices, with a ful how sledge of all the circumstances surrounding the pase. The existing circumstances in he way differ from what they were on the day the ie nee was granted. Mr. Francis contended that Mr. Rolmes by permitting the sale of liquor Ly the Chinese had committed the flence of permitting the Chinaman to be the keeper, and this entailed the cancelling of the beense, and he would yet further contend that this license was obtained for the express purpose of allowing some person other than olmes to derive profit from the sale of liquom. He seems to be under the peculiar impression that the numbers of those who die in war are not greatly out of proportion to the numbers of those who die unheard of in time of peace, . He advances to appport this proposition the theory that war stimulates some classes of industry and thus prevents the starvation of those wi would in the ordinary routine starve in time of pence. That at least I take to be his argument. Now I do not assail that position, but I say it utterly fails to support the theory. While war undoubtedly stimulates certain clusses of industry, it also has the opposite effect others. I take it that those who starve in time of war are not fewer than those who starve in time of peace. If that be so, then the numbers killed on the field must turn the scale of mor tality overwhelmingly against war.
